THE FRAIL BEAUTY OF GEORGINA

Crepes-de-Chine, and other materials popular, will not stand washing and colours fade, the garments are that washed look so faded that their value is lost. Why not wear the fracks to be for cleaning?

THE POUILLER PROCESS

PLEASES,

because it removes every trace of dirt, and not stains from the most delicate without shortening, staining or fading. It returns your garments white as when new. Charges moderate.

LATE WAR NEWS.

WEST FRONT.

FURTHER BRITISH PROGRESS.

LONDON, Sept. 8. Sir Douglas Haig reports that by nightfall yesterday we had taken Villers and the village and gained possession of the greater part of Havrincourt Wood. There was heavy fighting yesterday evening and night eastward of Hermites and in the sector westward of Amettes without material change in the situation. Westward of La Bassee our patrols further progressed in the enemy's positions.

AMERICAN SUCCESS.

A Paris message reports that the Americans have occupied Wood, throwing the Germans back across the German line between Glencles and Romagne. The Germans are determined to cling to the plateau between Glencles and Romagne. The ravines are bristling with machine guns. The valleys have been swept with shells from the German guns behind the line. The enemy shelled Longueval for a time at the rate of 1200 shells an hour.

THE BOLSHIEVICS.

A Stockholm message reports that Mr. Leo, the American Vice-Consul at Moscow, said that the Bolsheviks did their utmost to delay the party's departure. They kept them prisoners in the train at Petrograd for four days. Shots were heard in the streets and in the city. The American Consul General returned to leave Moscow until his English and French colleagues were released.

RECRUITING.

To-night Mr. Ross Gore, chairman of the State Recruiting Committee, and Captain Alexander, recruiting officer, will leave for the North Coast district. The meeting in Martin-place at 10 o'clock to-day was the last of the series. The recruiting officer, Mr. Ross Gore, is accompanied by Mr. Ross Gore, chairman of the State Recruiting Committee, and Captain Alexander, recruiting officer. The meeting in Martin-place at 10 o'clock to-day was the last of the series.

DEATH OF MR. W. S. TARGETT.

Mr. W. S. Targett, who at once time recruited Hartley in the State Parliament, and was on staff of the Attorney-General, died at his home at Koonah, from the effects of which he died at an early hour this morning. In attempting to jump on to a tram which had commenced to move he slipped and rolled partly underneath it, sustaining a fracture of the amputation of his left leg. He died at about 1 a.m.

LATE MR. J. MCGARVIE SMITH.

Many gentlemen well known in pastoral and commercial circles attended the funeral of the late Mr. J. McGarvie Smith in Waverley Cemetery on Saturday afternoon. The cortege, leaving for the cemetery a service conducted in All Saints Church, Woolahra, by the Rev. Mr. Lanning, included Mr. McGarvie's wife, Mrs. McGarvie, and a large number of friends. A short address was delivered in the course of which Mr. Lanning said that Mr. McGarvie was a man of great energy and initiative, and that he was a man of great energy and initiative.

SOUTH AFRICA.

Mr. Moffat, the Government Commissioner appointed to inquire into the native strike on the Rand, in his report to the Government, states that an entire reversal of the Transvaal native policy. He recommends that the authorities should be more sympathetic to the native position, and that the native strike should be treated as a labor dispute, and not as a political movement.

NATIVE LABOUR TROUBLE.

Mr. Moffat, the Government Commissioner appointed to inquire into the native strike on the Rand, in his report to the Government, states that an entire reversal of the Transvaal native policy. QUEENSLAND SUGAR CROP.

A return shows that the Queensland sugar crop for 1917 amounted to 207,134 tons.

WAR LOAN.

OVER £400,000 IN HAND.

When the organizers of the Red Cross Day Fund expressed their belief just after the day in April last that £400,000 would be received in all the country returns were in. It was generally considered that their anticipations were too much on the optimistic side. The estimate has been exceeded already. The fund totals £400,000, and the proceeds of the New South Wales share of the Kitcheners Platoon, approximately £200,000, has yet to be added.
